

The Society for Conservation GIS

The Society for Conservation Geographic Information Systems (SCGIS) is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization that works to assist conservationists worldwide in using GIS through communication, networking, scholarships, and training.

SCGIS supports the conservation of global resources through various activities, such as:

- Ⓢ competitive international scholarship program
- Ⓢ annual conference
- Ⓢ financial awards and waivers to the annual conference
- Ⓢ biannual electronic newsletter
- Ⓢ a LISTSERV for members to discuss projects, seek advice, and provide technical support
- Ⓢ networking and professional development services
- Ⓢ coordination of hardware and software donations to non-profit organizations and establishment of standards for the development of conservation data

Membership is open to any individual seeking assistance in the achievement of personal or organizational conservation goals; no individual will be turned away for lack of funds. The diverse membership currently includes over 250 members in 38 different countries. Come join this expanding network!
